Forecast For Wales
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Thursday 17 Jun 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A cloudy start, becoming increasingly clear and bright.

Today:
A fine and dry day for west Wales with sunny spells. Across eastern parts early cloud will give some rain or showers through the morning, but this will gradually clear eastwards to leave a drier, sunnier afternoon. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying dry through the evening and overnight. Some patchy cloud but clearer spells allow for temperatures to turn chilly for dawn. Minimum temperature 8 deg C (46 deg F).

Friday:
A fine morning, with sunshine turning hazy as cloud thickens from the south. Thicker cloud for east Wales with some afternoon showers. Staying dry and fine in the west. Breezy. Maximum temperature 17 deg C (63 deg F).

Outlook for Saturday to Monday:
Cloudy but bright with the odd shower on Saturday. Turning unsettled for Sunday and Monday, with sunny spells, heavy showers and a risk of thunder.
